THE CAUSE OF EDUCATION OUTRAGED.

Governor Colquitt has made good on one of his political threats, made while trying to drive the people of Texas with a bull whip, and in so doing has given further evidence that he is a peanut politician of the first water. He threatened to knife the appropriations for higher education if the people of Texas rejected Resolution 18 and has put his threat into execution. His action shows that he is influenced by personal pique, by spleen and vindictiveness, rather than by deep moral convictions and broad-minded statesmanship.

He has, for the sake of "getting even," used his despotic power to deal the cause of higher education a blow from which it will not recover in twenty-five years.

The Galveston News correctly sizes up the situation as follows:

"Although the University has been made the chief victim, pretty much the whole cause of education has been sacrificed on the altar of pagan politics by the petty priests of that ignoble cult. The University is bereft of the whole of its second year's appropriation; told, in effect, to beg or starve for a season; but every other institution of higher learning is also despoiled in some degree that the selfish ambitions of politicians may be promoted by pandering to the prejudice of ignorance. The injury done to the state by sapping these institutions of their strength is great, even incalculable; but yet a greater injury is inflicted in the humiliation that is put on Texas by those whose highest duty it is to preserve and exalt its fame. It is proclaimed throughout the world of education that Texas is either compelled or content to default in the highest duty it owes to the sons and daughters of its citizens. Neither implication is true, however logical; and hence there is something of a libel in an act susceptible to such inferences. The fact signifies, not the will of Texas, but the consequence of their folly in putting small men into big places, or conferring honors on men who are more concerned for their political fortunes than for the honor and the welfare of Texas. If there is a citizen of Texas who can contemplate the action of the governor on the appropriation bills without a profound feeling of shame, then we should say he lacks that sense of pride which is essential to good citizenship."

Next month has an "r" in it and the air will be redolent with the aroma of frying bivalves. The repertoire theatrical aggregations will begin to venture forth from their summer hiding places, and summer tourists who have been stopping at hot, stuffy, ill-smelling, one-plunk boarding houses will be coming home.

The people of Texas would be glad to see Lieutenant Governor Mayes reassemble the legislature during Colquitt's absence and make proper provision for the state's educational institutions.

It is announced that old Billy Sulzer, Mayor Gaynor and President Wilson will buck the Tammany tiger in the forthcoming mayoralty election. Boss Murphy will be given a run for his money.

Here's hoping Thaw beats them to it, anyway. He's got as much sense as any of the rest of them, and he's as good as any of the bunch of grafters who are trying to do him.

Bryan has been lifted out of the mud, but we are not saying anything about how deeply she has been soured into the dust.

Governor Colquitt has gone to Colorado to rest. The people of Texas would be mighty glad to make his furlough permanent.

Sulzer says he is not ashamed of his career. They never are.

MR. DENNIS CAHILL DEAD

Taken Suddenly Ill Saturday Afternoon and Died Sunday Morning at 11 o'clock.

Dennis Cahill, commissioner from the Brazos bottom precinct of Brazos county, was taken suddenly ill Saturday afternoon on the streets of this city and died Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Cahill had apparently been in good health and came into town Saturday with a load of cotton and was overcome by the severe heat which affected his heart to such an extent that he never recovered. He was carried to the office of Dr. R. H. Harrison in the Commerce building, where every medical attention was given him and his family was summoned. His condition was so critical that it was not considered advisable to move him, and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock he quietly passed away.

Mr. Cahill lived at Smetana and was elected county commissioner from the Brazos bottom precinct at the last election, in which capacity he had served well and faithfully for the past year. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World and was past consul commander of his camp at Smetana and was buried under the auspices of the Woodmen at the family burial grounds at the old Cahill homestead today at 11 a. m.

Mr. Cahill was 43 years of age and leaves a wife and small son to mourn his death. He is also survived by two brothers, Jimmy and Darby Cahill. The bereaved family and relatives have the profound sympathy of all in their great bereavement.

Mr. Cahill was reared near Smetana, was an honorable, upright citizen and had many friends throughout the county. His untimely death is deeply deplored by all.

J. A. CAPPS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Arm Badly Crushed in Palermo Gin Saturday Afternoon, Making Amputation Necessary.

J. A. Capps, who is employed at the Palermo gin, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon by having his arm crushed while cleaning lint from the gin saws where a small blaze had occurred. He was carried to the Hunnicutt hospital, and after a careful examination of the injured arm it was considered advisable to amputate same between the elbow and shoulder, which operation was performed by Drs. Oliver, Sims and Richardson. After the operation the arm was carefully dressed and Mr. Capps was resting well today.

Mr. Capps discovered that the lint in the gin was on fire and had propped up the breast and with a stick was endeavoring to get the lint out when either he or the man helping him knocked the prop from beneath the breast and it fell on his arm knocking the elbow and wrist into the saws. Mr. Capps called for help and braced his neck and right arm against the breast of the gin to prevent his head from being drawn into the teeth of the saws and exerted his strength to such an extent that he broke a four-inch drop flap from the breast of the gin in his frantic efforts to save his life. Everyone around him seemed to be so rattled that no one knew what to do until O. Z. Hall, the bookkeeper and foreman, hearing the commotion jumped from the first story of the gin to the ground and ran to the engine and threw it out of gear and thus aided in saving the life of Mr. Capps. There is no doubt that the strength and presence of mind displayed by Mr. Capps in this terrible ordeal was all that saved him from being drawn into the gin and crushed, and his many friends will no doubt be pleased to learn that he is resting well and if no complications set in will soon be out again.
